on: submitting project funding proposals under the JPIAMR BIS 2024 call published by the National Science Centre.

This is to inform you that the National Science Centre, together with the JPIAMR, is launching a call for international research projects on antimicrobial resistance.

The primary aim of the call is to take action against the growing global threat of increased spread of antimicrobial (antibacterial and antifungal) resistance by funding international collaborative research projects aiming to improve, compare and evaluate the effectiveness, cost effectiveness, and uptake of existing interventions against bacterial or fungal infections and/or to design new interventions against fungal infections.
